such that CF is largely independent of $N$. Cloud albedo is characterized by negatively-sloped isolines so that cloud albedo tends to increase with both, LWP and $N$. The isolines, and thus the dependence of cloud albedo on LWP and $N$, are distorted in the drizzling region (Q34).