The figure shows the concentrations of various compounds in both particle and gas phases. The x-axis represents different compounds (C1 to C10, Benz, hC2, hC3), while the y-axis represents concentrations in ng m$^{-3}$. The data is displayed as bars with error bars indicating variability. The inset graph provides a closer view of specific compounds.